

Product Story Introduction

A product story is a rich content page with a custom layout of multimedia and messaging assets that gives the best product experience to an end-user.

Behind the scene every product story is divided into bricks/modules. Eventually a combination of predefined bricks form a story.

Product Story Flow

Product Story Flow

STAGE 1

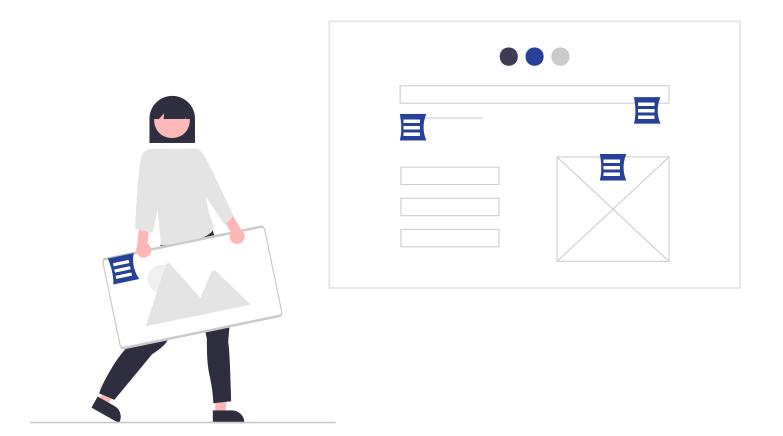

Every brand defines its own assortment of bricks, so eventually, unique and outstanding product stories are designed. In case desired brick is not yet available in our PET(product enrichment tool) library, our HTML geeks are ready to make your new design to come true. Alternatively, PET designers can analyze the input from brands and product descriptions on official sources and design examples, suggesting the best combination of bricks. The blueprints per category/family are designed by PET team and approved by the Brand.

STAGE 2

The Brand provides content assets, marketing materials. The product stories are produced by editorial team according to agreed blueprints and requirements. Brands may have access to PET tool. Brands can approve, create, adjust, remove product stories themselves.

STAGE 3

The brand provides a matching file - A matching list with EANs/GTINs & MPNs/SKUs to product stories. The editorial team publish product stories in respective data-sheets in icecat.
